

Authors

Benjamin von Allmen, M Sc, University of Bern, Institute of Educational Science. Main research interests: Educational research, research methods in social sciences. Email: benjamin.vonallmen@edu.unibe.ch.

Prof Dr Sang Hoon Bae, SungKyunKwan University, Department of Education, South Korea. Email: bae.sh@skku.edu.

Prof Dr Manuela du Bois-Reymond (emeritus) for education and youth sociology at Leiden University, Netherlands. Main research interests: school to work trajectories; non-formal learning; teacher training; educational policies in Europe. Email: dubois@fws.leidenuniv.nl.

Dr Maria Hjalmarsson, Senior Lecturer, Department of Educational Studies, Faculty of Arts and, Social Science, Karlstad University, Sweden. Main research interests: The changing conditions and demands of the leisure-time teacher profession and how leisure-time teacher interpret, understand and relate to these changes, and its implications for the everyday practice of teachers and children in leisure-time centres. Email: Maria.Hjalmarsson@kau.se.

Stephan Kielblock M. A., Giessen University, Germany, Department of Education. Main research interests: Education and formation in non-formal and informal contexts as well as the development of quantitative and qualitative empirical methods. Email: Stephan.kielblock@erziehung.uni-giessen.de.

Prof Joseph L. Mahoney, Ph.D, School of Education, University of California, Irvine. Main research interests: child and adolescent social/educational development, out-of-school time, and social/educational intervention and policy. Email: Joseph.Mahoney@uci.edu.

PD Dr Sabine Maschke, Justus-Liebig-University of Giessen, Institute for Educational Science. Main research interests: out-of-school time educational research, qualitative research methods, research on childhood and adolescence, biographical research. Email: Sabine.Maschke@erziehung.uni-giessen.de.

Prof Dr Marianne Schüpbach, University of Bern, Institute of Educational Science. Main research interests: Quality and effectiveness of extended education, primary school-age students, (multiprofessional) collaboration in school and classroom. Email: marianne.schuepbach@edu.unibe.ch.

Adam C. Sheppard, School of Education, University of California, Irvine. Main research interests: Youth involvement in out-of-school activities (in particular opportunities for physical activity) and the social development of youth involved in these activities. Email: asheppar@uci.edu.

Sandra D. Simpkins, Ph.D., T. Denny Sanford School for Social and Family Dynamics, Arizona State University. Main research interests: adolescents' participation in organized after-school activities, pursuit of STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics), and peer group and family predictors of adolescents' choices. Email: Sandra.Simpkins@asu.edu.

Prof Dr Ludwig Stecher, Justus-Liebig-University of Giessen, Institute for Educational Science. Main research interests: educational research, all-day schooling, quantitative research methods, research on childhood and adolescence. Email: Ludwig.Stecher@erziehung.uni-giessen.de.

Andrea E. Vest, M. S., T. Denny Sanford School for Social and Family Dynamics, Arizona State University. Main research interests: Adolescents' out-of-school time use, participation in organized extracurricular activities, sports participation, and health outcomes. Email: Andrea.Vest@asu.edu.